Where to Spot a Celebrity in Miami Any Day of the Week

Miami is no LA, but when celebs need a tropical paparazzi break and don't want to deal with flying overseas, they book a first class ticket to Miami. While events such as Art Basel and Miami Music Week attracts floods of celebrities, it doesn't mean that the city doesn't play host to famous folks throughout the rest of the year. Here's a cheat sheet to spotting a celebrity in the Magic City, no matter what time of day it is.

Where To Eat And Play

El Tucan: Brickell's very own cabaret attracts its own roster of celebs. Karolina Kurkova celebrated her birthday there with her husband and family, while Adriana Lima has been spotted multiple times dancing to the Cuban cabaret. Will Smith has even made an appearance at the joint, walking up to the stage to hand Jahzel Dotel, El Tucan's jazz performer, a bottle of water when she requested it.
